

Karan nowadays
seems, forever busy.
All this WFH has got him in a tizzy.

While he was doing some chores, one day, he found a box that was stashed away.

They were memories of things
 he loved to do.
 It was a blast from the past!
 Time really flew!

Somewhere along the way,
caught up in making a living,
he had forgotten, what it meant to be truly alive!

Inspired by this trip down memory lane,
he planned to discover himself
again!

Karan quickly got into productivity mode, creating and developing his own vision board.

He knew what he wanted and planned his long day.
He had so much time now –
for work and for play.

He felt more organised and got more work done.
And so by EOD, he had loads of time for fun!

His vision board routine, was a real breakthrough, He was living his passions - and his family was too!

Karan's situation wasn't unique.
We're all burnt out, at home
inside.

BUT AS HE SOON DISCOVERED...

The only person we are destined to be,
is the person that we decide.

Have a dream, put it down,
Your vision board is a click away,
All it takes is a few minutes,
Go make yours, TODAY!
